

Application Instructions

Instructions: New England Law | Boston

We're thrilled that you are interested in joining our New England Law | Boston community - thank you! If you are planning on applying this year, we urge you to submit your application as early as possible before the application deadline.

To learn more about New England Law, we invite you to request a viewbook and schedule a visit to meet our faculty, staff, students, and law school admissions staff. Please contact our Admissions Office for additional information at admit@nesl.edu or 617-422-7210.

We will make every effort to notify applicants of missing application documents. However, it is the applicant's responsibility to ensure that the Office of Admissions receives all necessary law school application materials. Once a file is complete, you will be notified.

Completed applications for the fall are reviewed on a rolling basis, beginning in December. Most applicants can expect a decision within four to eight weeks of submission of their completed application.. Other than certain upper-class transfer/visiting applicants, all students must begin their legal studies in the fall semester.

Law School Application Requirements

A complete application file consists of:

- Application form
- $65 application fee
- CAS report (including transcript)
- LSAT Score (within the past 5 years)
- Personal statement
- Two letters of recommendation
- TOEFL (If English is not your first language or your undergraduate degree was not received from an English-speaking institution.)
- Special Part-Time Program addendum (if applying to that program)

Application Form

Please complete and submit your application by the deadline.

You can apply to more than one division, but be sure to indicate the ones to which you are applying.

We will notify you when your application has been received. If applying online, LSAC will send you confirmation that your application has been submitted.

Application Fee

A nonrefundable application fee of $65 must accompany your application. Applications submitted to LSAC for transmission to this law school will be considered postmarked on the day they are electronically submitted.

New England Law will automatically waive the application fee for any applicant who has been granted a LSAC fee waiver.

Application fee waivers are available for eligible students. To be considered for one, please send your full name, undergraduate grade-point average, the LSAT score, and the LSAC ID number to the Office of Admissions at admit@nesl.edu.

Undergraduate Degree

Before matriculating at New England Law | Boston, an applicant must have earned a baccalaureate degree from an accredited US institution or an equivalent degree from a foreign institution. New England Law will only accept transcripts submitted through the Credential Assembly Service \(CAS\), a service provided by the LSAC. The CAS analyzes each registrant's transcript(s), compiles other relevant information about the applicant, and then sends this data to the law schools chosen by the registrant.

Applicants who have not achieved at least a C (2.0) cumulative grade-point average in undergraduate work should not apply.

Please note: Applicants who have received undergraduate degrees outside the United States or Canada must adhere to the transcript requirements under the applicants with foreign undergraduate degrees section.

LSAT

Each applicant must take the Law School Admissions Test \(LSAT\) no later than February of the year in which enrollment is sought. The applicant must have taken the LSAT within the past five years. If an applicant repeats the LSAT, the application will be reviewed using the highest score. In some cases, the committee may also give weight to all scores the applicant has obtained.

Personal Statement

Each applicant must submit a personal statement as part of the admission process. Because the Admissions Committee does not conduct personal interviews, this is the applicant's opportunity to address committee members. The statement should emphasize the applicant's background, suitability for admission, or the reasons for undertaking legal studies. Applicants may write about personal characteristics and circumstances; strengths; work experiences; extracurricular activities; ethnic, economic, and educational background; or any other topic that will help the committee evaluate you.

Letters of Recommendation

Each applicant must submit two letters of recommendation, preferably from college professors who can attest to your ability to enter a competitive professional program. If the applicant has been out of school for a considerable period of time, letters from an employer also can be submitted. Applicants may submit more than two letters, although once two letters have been received, the applicant's file will be sent to the Admissions Committee for review.

Faxed or photocopied recommendation letters are not accepted. There are two options for submitting letters of recommendation:

1. New England Law recommends that recommendation letters be submitted through the LSAC Letter of Recommendation Service. Letters submitted through the service are copied and sent to New England Law with a CAS report. (These reports are updated weekly.)
2. New England Law accepts letters sent directly to the school. The envelope must be sealed with the recommender's signature over the seal.

TOEFL (if required)

If English is not your first language or if your undergraduate degree was not received from an English-speaking institution, you must take the Test of English as a Foreign Language (TOEFL). For more information about the test, call 609-771-7100, or visit www.ets.org/toefl.

You must receive a minimum TOEFL score of 100 on the Internet-based test or 250 on the computer-based test. You must then contact the Educational Testing Service to request that your TOEFL score be sent to the LSAC. The LSAC's TOEFL code for the JD CAS is 8395.

Addendum To Your Application

Law school applicants may include an addendum to discuss items not addressed elsewhere in the application. While not required, it is often helpful to the Admissions Committee for you to provide reasons why your LSAT score(s) or undergraduate grade-point average would or would not be a good predictor of your law school performance. In addition, comparing your SAT and ACT scores with your academic performance in postsecondary school may help the Admissions Committee evaluate whether your LSAT score is a good predictor of law school performance.

Special Part-Time Program Addendum

The Special Part-Time Program of up to six years is geared toward individuals with child-care responsibilities who are unable to attend law school as a full-time or part-time evening student. This flexible program allows those students to arrange schedules that are more compatible with their child-care responsibilities.

Applicants to the Special Part-Time Program need to submit a statement requesting consideration for special part-time status, stating your circumstances that justify it.

Qualifications for Admissions to the Bar

New England Law | Boston graduates are eligible to take the bar examination in any jurisdiction in the United States. In addition to a bar examination, there are character, fitness, and other qualifications for admission to the bar in every US jurisdiction. Applicants are encouraged to determine the requirements for any jurisdiction in which they intend to seek admission by contacting the jurisdiction. Addresses for all relevant agencies are available through the National Conference of Bar Examiners. Some jurisdictions require students to register with the state Board of Bar Examiners before or soon after they begin law school.

Different states test different subjects on their bar examinations. Each student should become familiar with the subjects that will be covered to best prepare for the respective examination.

J.D. International Students

Applicants with Foreign Undergraduate Degrees

If you are a graduate of an undergraduate program outside the United States, you may apply to enter New England Law | Boston's three-year, full-time or four-year, part-time JD program. Successful completion of either program will allow you to sit for any bar examination in the United States.

Credential Assembly Service (CAS) for International Students

New England Law requires that foreign transcripts be submitted through the Law School Admission Council (LSAC) JD Credential Assembly Service. If you completed any postsecondary work outside the United States (including its territories) or Canada, you must use this service to submit foreign transcripts.

The one exception is completion of the foreign work through a study abroad, consortium, or exchange program sponsored by a US or Canadian institution. If so, this must be clearly indicated on the home campus transcript.

This service is included in the Law School Data Assembly Service (LSDAS) subscription fee. In addition, a Foreign Credential Evaluation will be completed by the American Association of Collegiate Registrars and Admissions Officers and incorporated into the LSDAS report.

Requirements for Students with Foreign Undergraduate Degrees

All students must take the LSAT as part of the application process. If English is not your first language or your undergraduate degree was not received from an English-speaking institution, you must additionally take the Test of English as a Foreign Language (TOEFL). For more information, please call 609-771-7100, or visit www.toefl.org.

A minimum TOEFL score of 100 on the Internet-based test or 250 on the computer-based test is required. Please ask the Educational Testing Service to send your TOEFL score to the LSAC. The LSAC's TOEFL code for the JD Credential Assembly Service is 8395. Your score will then be included in the Foreign Credential Evaluation, which will be included in the LSDAS report.

To use the JD Credential Assembly Service, log in to the LSAC online and follow the instructions to register. Be sure to print out a Transcript Request Form for each institution, and send it promptly to each one. More time is usually required to receive foreign transcripts.

For questions about the JD Credential Assembly Service, contact the LSAC at 215-968-1011 or LSACINFO@LSAC.org.

Advanced placement is available only with permission from the Office of the Dean.

Nonimmigrant Students

We welcome international students to pursue their interest in law at New England Law | Boston. If you are a nonimmigrant student, additional paperwork and documentation may be necessary.

Please note that satisfying any visa or entry requirements of the U.S. government is your responsibility. You also may be required to register with the federal government. Entry requirements and visa information are available from the US Immigration and Customs Enforcement.

Character and Fitness

Qualifications for Admission to the Bar

In addition to a bar examination, there are character, fitness, and other qualifications for admission to the bar in every U.S. jurisdiction. Applicants are encouraged to determine the requirements for any jurisdiction in which they intend to seek admission by contacting the jurisdiction. Addresses for all relevant agencies are available through the National Conference of Bar Examiners. Bar examiners may require information similar to that requested in the last two questions in this section and considerable additional information as part of their character review as a prerequisite to taking the bar examination. The fullest possible disclosure to the bar is recommended. Admission to or graduation from law school does not guarantee a registrant that he/she will be eligible to sit for a bar examination and/or be admitted to the practice of law.
